On 20 April, 2010 Alexia Adda was admitted to practise as an attorney-at-law in the Cayman Islands by the Honourable Mr. Justice Charles Quin QC on the application of Higgs & Johnson, Attorneys-at-Law. Mr. Justice Quin welcomed her to the Grand Court and stated that he was confident that her previous experience would be put to good use at Higgs & Johnson, which is a very busy firm.

Higgs & Johnson is expanding its Litigation Department in part as a result of an increased volume of insolvency matters. Ms. Adda, who qualified both as a Barrister at Law and as a Solicitor of the Supreme Court in England, will bring to Higgs & Johnson's dispute resolution team her experience in Arbitration and Commercial Litigation. Ms. Adda has advised on breach of contracts, intellectual property, commercial and financial services litigation.

Ms. Adda studied at the University of Edinburgh, Scotland, where she was awarded a Master of Arts Degree as well as a Postgraduate Diploma in Law and successfully passed the Bar Vocational Course at the BPP Law School. She was called to the Bar in London in 2004 and officially qualified as Barrister in 2006 and as a Solicitor of England & Wales in 2008.

The admission application in the Grand Court was made by the firm's Country Managing Partner, Mr. Philip Boni, who welcomed Ms. Adda to the firm and expressed his pleasure at this opportunity to expand the services being offered by the firm's Litigation Department.
