On 11 June 2009, law firm Higgs Johnson Truman Bodden & Co donated $1,000 to the Cayman Islands Seafarers' Association and presented the cheque to Gurney Panton - Seafarers' Treasurer and Godfrey Harris-McLean - Office Manager who represented the association.

Cayman Partner Philip Boni, commented; "Higgs Johnson Truman Bodden & Co is proud to support all those Caymanian Seafarers who have spent their lives serving our country and who provide the bedrock of Caymanian culture. They deserve to be recognised for their contribution to these Islands."

The Seafarers thanked Higgs Johnson Truman Bodden & Co for their support and stated that the donation would be used for their Benevolent fund, which helps individual seafarers with unexpected costs such as medical bills, which can be expensive especially if they require treatment off island.
